

FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

Progresif delivers again with skills development

Progresif delivers again with training, development and skills transfer when they recently conducted an intensive Situational Leadership II training and development programme for team leaders from the executive levels, head of departments and manager level from all departments.

Situational Leadership II (SLII) is recognized as both a business language and a framework for employee development that transcends cultural, linguistic, and geographical boundaries. Its foundation lies in teaching leaders to diagnose the needs of an individual or a team and then use the appropriate leadership style to respond to the needs of the person.

The 2-day training, which was conducted by the Ken Blanchard Company, gave the Progresif management team insight in developing and improving leadership skills by utilising diagnostic models and conversational styles in day-to-day tasks, to help with skill matching, goal setting, and efficient management.

The Ken Blanchard Company has been operating for 36 years, with the dream to unleash the potential and power of people and organizations for creating and sustaining the best workplace experience possible for their associates. The company today serves a multinational client base with programs delivered in many languages throughout North America, Europe, Asia, and Latin America.

The objective of the two day immersion training sessions was bringing the leaders up to pace with the ever changing culture in the workplace, and creating an environment for knowledge transfer to help develop entry level employees efficiently and effectively.

CEO Paul Hyde stated, "The turn around of Progresif has created more than 150 jobs at all levels of the business and while a staff that is 97% Bruneian. Our commitment to develop our people through training and skill transfer is something we take very seriously as is evident through having provided over 10,000 training hours over the last year."
